Scholarships for participants in the MEIG Programme academic year 2019-2020 - Master of Advanced Studies in European and International Governance, University of Geneva

Excellency,

In cooperation with the United Nations Office at Geneva, the University of Geneva created in 2017 the Master of Advanced Studies in European and International Governance (MEIG Programme). This highly innovative programme combines academic studies together with a practical training, followed by an internship in an international organization or an in-depth study on a topic related to governance. This 9 month programme specifically addresses young professionals having previous practical experience and wishing to enhance their knowledge of European and international governance. Please consult our website for further information (www.meig.ch).

The success of the MEIG Programme persuaded a Geneva private foundation to offer five scholarships for participants coming from ODA beneficiary countries according to the list established by the OECD Development Assistance Committee (DAC). The main reason for this is that international cooperation will succeed only if all parties involved have a sound knowledge of the functioning of international governance. This scholarship is subject to the condition that recipients commit to returning to their respective countries. The scholarship amounts to CHF 45,000. The scholarship covers registration fees and provides a significant contribution to the cost of living in Geneva.

Excellency,

In your capacity as Ambassador of one of the above mentioned countries, you are in the best position to identify such participants. These may be, for instance, officers of a ministry, including the ministry of foreign affairs, young professionals working for the private sector or a non-governmental organization. Other eligibility requirements are detailed on the above-mentioned website. Selection is based on application.

The MEIG Programme is obviously opened to candidates not requiring scholarship as well. We would appreciate if this information about the MEIG Programme could be circulated among other interested institutions, as for instance universities in your country.

The next edition of the programme (academic year 2019-2020) will begin mid-September 2019. We would need to receive the applications of potential candidates by no later than 28 February 2019.

I would like to thank you for your cooperation and remain at your disposal for further information you may need.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Sincerely yours,

Prof. Christine Kaddous
